AMENDMENT RE PREVIOUS ANNOUNCEMENT

Following a request from the ASX the Company has been required to retract certain portions of the statements on the gold deposit at the Wilgeena Mining Centre contained in the announcement dated 9 November 2009. The portions to be retracted relate solely to the statement of a "Non JORC compliant gold resource" which were based on historical work undertaken by several companies including a major international, highly reputable, gold exploration and mining company which currently has large scale operations in Australia. The Wilgeena Mining Centre is an important addition to Alchemy's current resource base and the Company is actively pursuing exploration strategies, as previously announced, to confirm and expand the previously stated historic resource within the foreseeable future.
